Biography

Known as the James Bond of jazz, recording artist Jack Furlong is a baritone sax artist by trade, yet diversifies his sound playing all types of saxophones, clarinets, and flute.

With cool phrasing and a simple melodic approach, the critically acclaimed Furlong credits his style influencers: Gerry Mulligan Miles Davis, Count Basie, and John Coltrane.

Jack has shared the stage with jazz notables Phil Woods, Peter Nero, Jim McNeely, and Mullgrew Miller.

Furlong's professional career began in college, while honing his chops and composing for ensembles big and small. During this time, he gravitated toward the music of film, television, video games, and other media.

Later Jack graduated from William Paterson University with his M.M. in Composing and Arranging. He has recorded four CD's to date and performs throughout the upper East Coast.

When not fully ensconced in music, Jack devotes time to his other passion: baseball. Not only is he a championship-winning coach and player, but also a state certified umpire. Furlong started his own sports-related organization, OSIP (Outstanding Sportsmanship is Paramount).
